The French Speaking Registry of Peritoneal Dialysis is a scientific society, created in 1988, with the goal of helping dialysis teams evaluating and improving the quality of care given to ESRD patients treated at home (Peritoneal Dialysis and Home Haemodialysis), of promoting research in that field and publishing its results.

It allows the francophone medical and nursing community easier exchanges in its mother tongue but also provides the necessary links with the international scientific community to which it remains deeply attached.

The database comprises the follow-up since 1986 of thirty-six thousand patients treated with PD from France and Francophone countries. It has a 99% exhaustivity for France in 2016. In addition, since 2013, it includes 280 patients on home haemodialysis from Belgium and France.

This database has been declared to the Informatics and Liberties Commission

(Commission de l'Informatique et des Libertés or CNIL) on October 1, 1997 with the following number: 542668.

For Peritoneal Dialysis, the database is structured in interconnected modules: a main module, compulsory for participation, and optional modules; the latter allow a more detailed follow-up of various aspects of care (see pages 5-6), but can only include patients already registered in the main module; they are devoted to particular topics such as : Anaemia, Catheters, Nutrition and Adequacy of dialysis, Cardiac Failure, Nursing Aspects.

For Home Haemodialysis, collected data are: patients' characteristics, durations and modalities of therapy, complications.

TO PARTICIPATE

Participation to RDPLF is for free, the only required countermeasure is the «pledge» by the centres to maintain their data up-to-date, preferably in real time or at least every three months.

INFORMATION CAPTURE

Each participating centre must have all the informations pertaining to its patients in the modules to which they take part. Updates are done through Internet, or possibly through paper forms in case of connection difficulties.

DATA EXPLOITATION

All the centres have a direct access to their own data through the web and may build their statistics requests themselves according to their own criteria. Besides they may also request more precise and personalised analyses, in that case with a response lag of 15 days.

Once a year, on the website, global statistics by country are put online and figures can be accessed for free. They may serve for publication after prior authorisation.

Each centre can also, from the website, build personal statistics requests for a country or a particular region.

Anonymous exportations, on pre-defined research criteria, can be obtained by the centres for personal research works and publications. The latter must be submitted to and receive the approval of the Good Practices Commission (CBP see below) and/or the RDPLF Board.
